Wield a pen

Wield a pen that trembles with thought.
Wield a pen that pours its wisdom like dawn.

WIELD A PEN

- whose ink is sunrise—hope in liquid gold.
- that tips the scales toward tender justice.
- that unsheathes itself against the dark of tyranny.
- forever hungry for horizons not yet named.
- that stitches kindness into every wounded palm.
- that will not sag beneath the weight of long nights.
- that charts new constellations for lost hearts to follow.
- carved from grace, lit by courtesy's quiet flame.

Wield, at last, the very pen your spirit has been aching to hold. For with each stroke of character, you confess the orchard where your roots once drank. I do not ask you to sprout the wings of angels — only this: never trade your beating human heart for the mask of a devil.

Self-Faith

Success seldom follows the path we plan at first; it often diverges and tests us with early trials! Embrace faith—trust that at journey's end, victory awaits!

FAITH

- is the conviction that triumph will come when no signs yet appear
- is believing in your dream when all others doubt its worth!
- is finding calm in the eye of life's storm—soft enough to close your eyes?
- is the steadfast knowing that brighter days lie ahead despite the tempest!

Sometimes you must stake all you have on a dream unseen by the world! Hold faith in your dream regardless of the sacrifices—or the time it takes Faith is stepping forward when the path is hidden, assured it will reveal itself in time!

Discipline

Discipline is doing what you don't feel like doing—anyway.

Yet you rise and do what must be done

DISCIPLINE

- is honoring the promise you made to yourself.
- is doing what you don't want to do now, so you can have what you do want later.
- is rare. It is exhausting—no excuses.

Too hard? No excuses.

Too early? No excuses.

Too busy? No excuses.

Too stressed? No excuses.

You must grow.

You can become anything you want—
but only through discipline.

DISCIPLINE

Lion Mentality

The greatest fear on earth is the fear of other people's opinions. The moment you no longer fear the crowd, you stop being a sheep—you become a lion.

A roar rises in your chest—the roar of freedom.

Sheep have no freedom; they live
in fear and uncertainty
A sheep does not lead

A LION

- follows no one.
- holds full command of his life— he does not accept scraps, is not told what to do or where to go.
- performs his role with fierce competence.
- You will never lead a lion to the slaughter; the lion would sooner lead you.
- The lion is king of the jungle, and you are king of the republic of yourself.
- Not because the lion is the biggest or the fastest, nor because he has some overwhelming advantage— but because the lion's mindset makes him king.

The Wealthy – Secrets of a Millionaire Mind

They carry a quiet certainty: I can make my own chances.

Hold three coins in your palm—Security, Comfort, Abundance—pick one, and your life will echo that choice. Most hands close around Security.

Security

Comfort

Abundance

The poor cling to it, search for it, fear ventures, fear job loss, fear investing, fear losing money. Security is precious; the shell of poverty is hard to crack—it's a mindset and a motive, even when you already “have enough.” Comfort is the banner of the middle class.

Two roads tempt them:

- a high-paying job to buy peace and cover the children's needs
- a steady job plus a side venture—a second stream of income.

But the wealthy think in Abundance. They aim for the overflowing well—because when abundance arrives, security and comfort come trailing after, inevitable as the shadow that follows the sun.
